The Flat Earth - God, The Devil, The Great Halls, and Echolocation

Are cities sinking? Are the water levels around the earth rising? Do trees breathe carbon? The maldives have the lowest elevation to any country in the world, and besides the occasional travel warning, sea levels remain the same. dailycaller.com : tinyurl.com/y62udew8

There is nothing more stubborn than someone with a big brain, and when that big brain can't see much higher than a few feet, the horizon is flat, thus the Spanish and others have been joking about societies that have drowned in the water, or sunken, or sinking cities. The Flat Earth theory can be seen in cubist paintings. Time to wonder why Cuba is so funny.

God Listens and They're More Than a Dog

Yo! What's up Dog. Translation, transliteration, black books, red copies, edited galore. Seven is used in the Bible, the Egyptian Dead Book and the Talmud. Too Severe, to sever, to strike from the records. As a check mark strikes up, a seven strikes down. Some things comes slowly. Ancients wrote "Cah" as the whale that leaves the body as it dies, to enter the after world.

The anatomical brain illustration on the left illustrates ventricles. Sodium chloride central nervous system fluid channels that receive electromagnetic stimulus that signal into a narrow point at the occipital lobe, our brains imaging center. The cerebellum underneath is reputed as the reptile brain, or the brain that developed first in evolutionary terms.

Our Skin : Symmetrical, Sporadic

Skin on our bodies largely mirrors our brain health. Losing your hair? Breaking out in skin rashes? Going grey? Blame your brain. A skin disease which shows up on both your left and right side, is somewhere in your cerebellum, while one that is sporadic like the measles or chickenpox may be located on only the right or left brain hemisphere. Skin rashes tend to break out during conflicts and stress. Stress is a reaction to conflict.

Remember that battery chemistry is sometimes transferred to the anode/cathode as corrosion. Manufacturers often recommend using the same batteries to avoid chemical incompatibilities and catastrophes.
